GERMANY VIRTUALLY DECLARES WAR

PAINLEVE FOR NEW FRENCH PREMIER

Being Mentioned to Succeed
Briand in New French Cabinet.

(Special to The Herald)
Paris, March 19.—The name of M. Painleve was put forward today as a likely successor to Aristide Briand, who resigned as premier. It is reported that M. Briand probably will not have a post in the new cabinet. The huge task of creating a new cabinet falls on Alexander Ribot, present minister of finance and for more than forty years a conspicuous figure in governmental affairs. He agreed to try and bring order out of the present instability.

SEC. OF WAR UP IN THE AIR

Issues Orders to Stop Mustering Out of Militia and Then Cancels It.

(Special to The Herald)
Washington, March 18.—Secretary of War Baker admitted that orders had been sent out by him last night to all commanding officers to stop mustering out national guard units, but stated that these orders were cancelled today and that the mustering out will continue. He refused to make any statement of why the orders were issued and then cancelled.

More war talk has been provoked as a result of the recent sinking of three more American ships.

Sinking of Three American Unarmed Ships So Construed in Washington-- "The Time for Talking Has Past."

(Special to The Herald)
Washington, March 19.—"The time for talking has passed" was the position taken by the national capital today, following the latest German submarine outbreak and the sinking of the three American ships. There was little disposition anywhere to lessen the gravity of the situation. The few officials who have been hoping against hope that the German unrestricted warfare did not mean what it said, were today admitting that they were in error. No American ship is safe anywhere on the high sea unless armed for defense. Had the City of Memphis and the Illinois been armed they would not have been sunk but the Vigilante did not see any trace of the submarine that destroyed her. President Wilson and Secretary Lansing conferred at length this forenoon and the Secretary's attitude when he returned plainly showed the strain under which the country is living.

Washington, March 19.—Germany's war challenge today was before President Wilson. Sinking of the American ships City of Memphis, the Illinois and the Vigilante, will compel speedy action. In official circles everywhere it was accepted as the overt act of war. For the present the administration interpretation is withheld but the officials who know the President's mind, insisted that when an official announcement is made it will be couched in language which will leave no doubt as to its meaning. All hopes of peaceful conditions continuing have vanished in official quarters. Wave of popular resentment spreading over the country. The United States today remains in the position of maintaining a status of armed neutrality. Upon the decision of the President hinges whether this position was to be changed before congress acts. The fact that all three of the vessels destroyed were plainly marked with the stars and stripes and that two were homeward bound in ballast has added to the bitterness of the feeling. Officials declare that this is the best proof that no effort has been made by Germany to discriminate in favor of American ships. There is no doubt now that Germany intends to live up to a strict rule about destroying all merchant ships that come into the barred zone.

Washington, March 19.—Captain L. P. Berum of the City of Memphis was not among the survivors so far landed. Consul Frost at Queenstown reported to the state department, that the captain and four other Americans, and for others, not Americans, all members of the crew are still missing, but are thought to have been picked up.

CLAIMED TO HAVE LIVED HERE

Portland, March 18.—Mrs. Edith Holland, aged 24, wife of George Holland of Sleep Falls, was found unconscious in a hotel today and she had taken a drug, it is believed, with suicidal intent. She was removed to a hospital and her name is on the dangerous list.

It is learned that she underwent a cure for the drug habit in a Massachusetts institution. She registered Friday, "George B. Small and wife," and a man who said he was Mr. Small came later. She has lived recently in Boston, Rochester and Portsmouth, N. H.

Don't forget to attend the big meeting tomorrow evening. It means a lot to you and your city.

ADAMSON BILL IS DECLARED CONSTITUTIONAL

Supreme Court However
Rules Railroad Employees
Have No Right to Strike in Concert.

Washington, March 19.—Upholding the right of congress to legislate along the lines, to meet a public emergency, the supreme court by a vote of 6 to 3 upheld the Adamson eight-hour law for railroad employees. In its decision, however, the court made the most radical advance in its history when it ruled that the rights of employees of public service organizations have not the right to strike in concert. That right, declared Chief Justice White is necessarily surrendered when the men are engaged in public service. They are comparable to soldiers in the ranks who in the presence of enemies of their country may not desert.

The decision was not necessary inasmuch as the railroad strike situation had been settled in New York early in the day. Justices Pitney, Day and Vandewater dissented from the majority and held that the law was a wage increase and no proper regulation of commerce under the constitution. Justice McKenna concurring with the majority held that it involved the fixing of hours of labor only.

MAY BE PRISONERS ON SUBMARINE

Missing Captain and Eight of Crew of City of Memphis Still Unaccounted For.

(Special to The Herald)
Washington, March 19.—Possibility that Captain L. P. Berum and the eight members of his boat crew from the City of Memphis are prisoners on the German submarine which sank that vessel, was suggested by Consul Frost at Queenstown in a dispatch to the state department this noon. He expressed his opinion however, that they have probably been picked up by a friendly craft not fitted with wireless. He made it plain, however, that the condition of the abandoned boats showed that the occupants had been rescued.

AMBASSADOR D. R. FRANCIS HEARD FROM

(Special to The Herald)
Washington, March 19.—Everything now is quiet in Petrograd and throughout Russia, according to American Ambassador David R. Francis, who reported to the state department today. The report is said to bear out the press dispatch of the events since the inception of the revolution. There had been some uneasiness in the state department over his failure to keep the state department informed, but it is thought now that his cablegrams were held up.

RAILROADS GIVE IN TO BROTHERHOOD

Sign Agreement for Eight Hour Day and Strike Declared Off.—Decision of Adamson Law Will Not Effect Agree- ment.

(Special to The Herald)
New York, March 19.—The railroad trainmen have won their fight for an eight-hour working day and the threatened strike has been called off. This announcement was made early this morning by the board of mediators appointed by President Wilson, who have been in session almost continuously with either the railroad brotherhood chiefs or the railroad executives since last Friday.

The realization that the country is standing on the verge of war and that a strike at this time would be nothing less than a national calamity, the railroad executives gave in early this morning and informed the board that they would grant the demands of the brotherhood.

The chiefs of the brotherhood who had gone to bed were awakened to be informed of the granting of the demands and they immediately got busy and called off all orders for a strike.

An agreement was drawn up by President Wilson's mediation board, presided over by Secretary of the Interior Lane, and this was signed by all of the principals. The attacking of the signatures ended almost seven months of bitter controversy during which the nation has twice been dangerously near the verge of a strike.

Secretary Lane was in direct communication with the White House during the night. After his communication he laid before the railroad executive committee the status of the international condition and it was then that the railroad officials agreed.

Under the agreement the railroad men will get the eight-hour day and time on an eighth, this being the only point on which they yielded. They had originally demanded a basis of time and a half for overtime. All of the principal railroads of the country will be put on an eight-hour schedule regardless of the decision of the U. S. supreme court or the Adamson eight-hour law. A plank to this effect was inserted in the document. The men will get back pay on the basis of this agreement from January 1, when the Adamson law was to have become effective.

Secretary Lane paid high honor to the patriotism and self-sacrifice of the railroads in submitting to the demands at this time. In behalf of the board he issued a public statement thanking them for their work.

The brotherhood is highly elated. "It is the biggest victory in the history of organized labor," said Mr. Lee, the president of the brotherhood and he said that they would return home much pleased that they had been able to get an agreement.

Boston, March 19.—A meeting of 70 railroad men from the New England states to perfect details of calling a strike on the three big New England railroads was called to a sudden halt this morning when orders that the strike had been called off were received from the four brotherhoods. Thomas E. Donovan, general chairman of the New England railroad brotherhood, said: "I have just received word that the strike has been called off. The brotherhood received everything asked for. We are naturally much elated over our success."

BERLIN CLAIMS GAINS NEAR VERDUN

Carried French Trenches and Take Prisoners; Admit Retreat on Other Lines.

(Special to The Herald)
Berlin, March 19.—French trenches on the Verdun front for a width of five hundred yards were captured by the Germans in a storm attack yesterday afternoon, the war office announced today. Eight French officers and 452 men were captured. Counter attacks by the French during the night were repulsed. There was violent fighting on both sides of the Meuse river. Near the North Sea coast and near Aton there has been lively fighting activity. The war office again today admits that they have to retire before the British along the Somme.

AUSTRIA REPORTED AS SEEKING ARMISTICE

London, Sunday.—Negotiations with the Russian revolutionary government looking to an armistice with Austria are being considered in Vienna, according to advices today.

Emperor Charles and his advisers are reported to be deeply concerned over the successful revolt of the Russian people and its possible effect on the races that make up the Austro-Hungarian monarchy.

The situation was discussed thoroughly by the Emperor with Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the Imperial German Chancellor, who has been here from Berlin, and Count Czernin, the Austrian Foreign Minister. Following the conference, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg left immediately to see the Kaiser at German headquarters in the field.

Would Free All Russian Jews
Despatches dealing with the Russian situation indicate that the new government has taken a firm hold on the affairs of the nation. Orders have been restored in Petrograd and steps to work out the sweeping reforms, that will place Russia at one jump into the forefront of democracies are being taken. The first legislative step of the new government, it was reported in despatches today, would be to insure the complete freedom of all Russian Jews.

The Duma is said to be anxious to take this step at once as a mark of appreciation for the attitude of the Jews when tempted by the bureaucracy to desert the popular cause.

The constitutional assembly, which probably will provide for the adoption of many reforms and will arrange for the plebiscite by which the Russian people will decide on the form of government they desire, will be convened at once at the Winter Palace, which has been proclaimed national property according to a Russian Communist's despatch.

Confident of Army Attitude
The only doubtful point in the situation is the attitude of the armies at the front. It is believed, however, that the appointment of Grand Duke Nicholas, the deposed Tsar's uncle, who is personally popular with the soldiers as Commander-in-Chief, will be received enthusiastically and that the new government will be accepted.

It develops now that Grand Duke Michael, the Tsar's younger brother, in whose name Nicholas abdicated, did not after abdicate himself, and thus bring the Romanov dynasty to an end. The reports to this effect were due to a misunderstanding.

British Take Sixteen Towns Abandoned by Retreating Germans

London, Sunday.—In the announcements of the last few days by the War Office, supplemented by the reports of Saturday from the French War Office in Paris, may be read the beginning of a general German retreat from France, it is believed today. Nineteen towns have been given up to the French and British. Many military observers believe that the retreatment will not cease until the Germans are some twenty-five miles behind their present front, on the so-called "Hindenburg line," which runs from Douai through Cambrai and St. Quentin to La Fere, a line approximately one hundred miles in length. This line is strongly fortified, but it is an open question, in the light of the last few days, whether they can hold it against the unrelenting pressure of the Allies, and the retirement now being conducted by the Germans to prepared positions may become a forced retreat.

The fall of Bapaume has caused enthusiasm but it was expected, and, moreover, the great events in Russia have overshadowed it and attention has been diverted to some extent by the sweeping success of General Maude in Mesopotamia, supplemented by the Russian successes in the same theatre of war.

That the British had entered Bapaume and were gazing down the slopes toward Cambrai, only a few miles away, and were working to enclose Peronne, was the first of the great news from the western front to be published Saturday. Then it was learned that north of the Somme, British troops were in possession of the villages of Le Transloy, Blotvillers, Bluecourt, Achiet-le-Grand, Abbeville, Bagny, Esnes and had penetrated a large part of the defenses of Menin-au-Bois, while to the south of the river they had captured Fresnoy, Horgny, Villers-Carbonnel, Barleux, Elouphay, and Le Malmaison.

This advance was on a front of sixteen miles. Then came the French announcement that the French further south had pressed forward on a front of thirteen miles to a depth of some points of two and a half miles. This news was supplemented by the night statement from the French War Office of the abandonment of lines held by the Prussians for more than two years between Audenoy and the Oise, the French troops entering Roye and crossing the Roye-Noyon road. The French also reported much aerial activity including the bombardment of Frankfurt-on-the-Main in reprisal for the firing of Bapaume by the Germans.

Special Crops for the Home Garden

Washington, D. C., March 18.—The home gardener will usually find it advantageous to grow small quantities of certain specialties which will add to the attractiveness of the family fare, and which few housewives will trouble to buy. Among these may be mentioned asparagus, radishes, and cress.

The young pods of this plant are the part used. These are employed principally in soups to which they impart a pleasant flavor and a sticky consistency. The best pods are grown on young plants, but if the pods are removed before they are allowed to ripen, the plants will continue to produce them until killed by frost.

The seeds of asparagus should be sown in the open after the ground has become quite warm, or the plants may be started in berry boxes in the hottest and transplanted in the garden after all danger of frost has passed. The rows should be 4 feet apart for the dwarf sorts, and 5 feet apart for the tall kinds, with the plants 2 feet apart in the row. Detailed information on this plant is contained in Farmers' Bulletin 232, "Onion: Its Culture and Uses."

Mustard greens may be produced on almost any good soil. The basal leaves are used for greens and are cooked like spinach. The plants require but a short time to reach the proper stage for use and frequent sowing should be made, therefore. The seeds are sown thickly in drills as early as possible in spring or for late use in September or October. Striped Plume is a reliable variety.

Parley is used chiefly to garnish meat dishes and to flavor soups. The seed is sown either thickly in a drill or broadcast. In the autumn or early spring, a square yard of space will be sufficient for all the parley that the average family is likely to desire.

Spinach, however, is perhaps the most favorite crop grown for greens, and every home gardener should plant it. Around Norfolk, Virginia, and to the south of it large areas are cut at any time through the winter when the fields are not frozen or covered with snow. North of the latitude of Norfolk spinach can be planted in the autumn and carried over the winter by mulching with straw or leaves. The seed should be sown in drills 1 foot apart at the rate of 1 ounce to a hundred feet of row, or 10 to 12 pounds per acre. A rich loam is required for success.

There is, perhaps, no other garden crop which gives as much satisfaction as spinach. Ordinarily it occupies the land during the autumn and winter and does not interfere, therefore, with the production of summer vegetables. Three or four ounces of seed planted in the autumn after the summer crop has been harvested will produce an abundance of greens for the average family during the late autumn and early spring. In gathering spinach the entire plant is removed. Instead of merely cutting off the leaves. By selecting the larger plants first, the smaller ones are given room to develop. This method does away with the necessity of thinning.

BOXING NOTES

Joe Egan will have the chance of his last career next Tuesday evening at the Grand Open House, Boston, when he meets Mike O'Dowd in a 12 round battle. Egan can walk away with the moon, it will bring him a national reputation and many good matches. But it must be remembered that the act of grabbing the decision from one O'Dowd means a tougher and harder fight than the Boston boy has ever got mixed in.

Egan has all the qualifications of a great fighter. He is as quick as a flash, has wonderful cleverness and knows every trick that is worth acquiring. His punch is powerful and at present he has the utmost confidence that he can beat O'Dowd. That means much to the Boston boy for he has been too prone to underestimate his ability as a fighter. His defeat of Jimmy Gardner has made his hopes high and being in better shape than any time in his career he will enter the ring determined to win.

Even though Egan is for cleverer than O'Dowd yet the St. Paul boy's speed and willingness combined with his punching power is the element that has got to be counted. Mike just tears at an opponent like a wild cat and never does stop until he brings them down. His record indicates that he has won most of his fights with a luge. In four years O'Dowd hasn't lost a single fight except the one in which he engaged in with Jack Britton at the Armory A. A. That's a pretty classy record to have climbed up and it means that Joe Egan will have to show championship from to win.

Kit Chakie, the tough Manchester, N. H., boy, boxes ten rounds in the semi-final with Danny McCormack of East Boston. Young Chado of the North End and Dick Thomas of the West End, will box six rounds, with Joe Camp of the North End and Joe Sullivan of East Boston, in the opening number.

COLLAPSE OF HOHENZOLLERNS EXPECTED BY WASHINGTON

Washington, Sunday.—According to a report in diplomatic circles here the German evacuation of Bapaume and the giving away of the Germans before the French along the Oise are closely associated with political unrest in Germany which has forced a readjustment of troops for fear of revolt.

Reports of speeches of socialist members of the Prussian Diet attacking the "Juncker" and agrarian interests of Prussia are merely an open manifestation of the seething conditions within Germany. It is reported, and the Imperial Chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, has already sought to placate the suffering industrial class by his promises of liberal government and reforms after the war.

It is more than probable, was the opinion expressed to the papers today, based upon these reports, that the world stands upon the verge of a collapse of absolutism in Germany as well as in Russia and that the whole feudal structure of Eastern Europe may come tumbling down like a house of cards, accomplishing the purpose of the world war with unbelievable swiftness.

German Workmen Aroused
And German people are the best disciplined in the world, it was admitted, but the course of the agrarians of Germany during the years of the war has opened the eyes of the great industrial classes who have borne the brunt of the war and of the food shortages as well, while feudalism has entrenched the agrarians in their special privileges.

It was confessed that the recent big gains of the French and English on the western front came as a surprise as such advances before the full pressure of the spring drive was not hoped for. At first it was thought that the retirement of the Germans meant merely a readjustment of their lines on the western front to prepare for the great drive. It has now become evident, however, that the Germans are sacrificing positions of such importance that this theory of a readjustment of their lines cannot suffice in explanation of it.

The most recent report connects the retirement which the evacuation of Bapaume further confirms, with a shifting of troops within Germany in an effort to guard against revolt. Regiments suspected of having revolutionary leanings being sent to new stations and other commands being broken up in such a way that the danger of troops going over to the populace in a revolutionary movement is lessened.

Socialists Emboldened.
News of the successful liberal revolution in Russia is reported to have produced a profound impression in Germany, especially with the industrial classes of the great cities in Prussia and in the eastern part of the Empire. It is this department, it is said, which has emboldened the socialists in the Prussian Diet to direct criticisms against the feudal elements more openly than were ever before known in Berlin, either in time of peace or war.

Profound interest has been aroused here by the revolution that Great Britain and France were aware that the Russian Premier, Dr. Sturmer, was engaged in a separate peace intrigue with Germany which was on the verge of success when the leaders of the Duma forced a ministerial crisis and overthrew him. This links the British and French governments more closely than ever with the new regime in Russia and gives further ground for the conviction that absolute solidarity in the Entente will follow as soon as the Russian crisis is passed.

Prussian Situation in Doubt
The exact state of affairs in Russia is still uncertain from information received here. If the Romanoff family ends its reign the United States will have to take up the question of recognition of the new government and must accredit its Ambassador to Russia anew, as the American Ambassador is accredited to the Tsar in person. That question, however, is for the future.

With the overthrow of the old regime in Russia, there was revealed here today a phase of the Entente negotiations regarding Greece heretofore kept secret. Then Entente Powers, knowing the present monarchial government in Greece to be absolutely out of harmony with the popular will in Greece, had given their sympathy to a scheme to overthrow the King of Greece and to establish a republic in

Was Yours One?

Among the exclusive Crawford features that have made this range preferred above all others are:—

A convenient gas end oven, equipped with new and improved gas broiler. This broiler is instantly adjustable to hold the food at any required distance from the flame without touching the pan, without bending over. It folds away when not in use.

Two separate ovens, both large and roomy—one for coal, the other for gas—both are perfect.

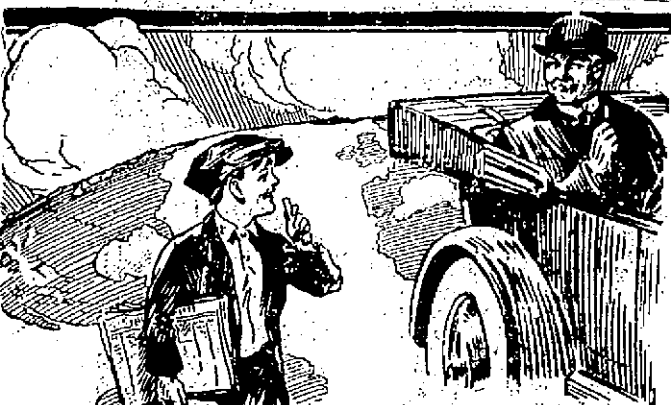

Five center heat gas burners of a new and efficient type bring the heat directly under the center of utensils without wasting gas.

Guarded gas cocks which eliminate danger of accidental opening.

Perfection of design and finish, long service and utility, distinguish Crawford coal ranges—or gas combinations.

the country, with Venizelos as president. The Tsar of Russia vetoed this programme, however, on the ground that the detaching of Constantinople would set a bad precedent. It was realized at that time that this was simply the result of the workings of Prussian influence in Russia, but France and England could not override them.

The Road to Success.

One of the leading big business men of the country has written a book entitled "Succeeding With What You Have." In this book he points out the course a young man should take to work his way up in the world from what is commonly called the "bottom of the ladder."

And the rules laid down are very old-fashioned. They include hard and conscientious work, not being afraid to put on a pair of overalls or soil the hands, and not objecting to overtime work. The young man headed for success does not watch the clock and is not constantly on guard against rendering his employer too much service for the pay he is getting.

To illustrate the correctness of this rule the author tells of a case that came under his personal observation. It was that of a young fellow employed by a large corporation, and about whom there was nothing to attract special attention except his great industry. He was always at work, and by his painstaking methods he succeeded in getting better results than any of his fellow employees. As if the story were fiction instead of fact, the young man went from good to better until he became the head of a department of the great corporation's business and is today a man of large wealth.

It is a simple story and there have been many similar cases of rising from the bottom to the top through honesty, ability and untiring industry. There are examples of this sort of thing in nearly every business community.

But the author realizes that there are employers who do not always value merit at its worth, for he says: "The real test of business greatness is in giving opportunity to others. Many business men fail in this because they are thinking only of personal glory." Unfortunately this is true, and the young man who rises to any extent under such an employer must fight his way. In fact, there are employers who think more of a young man who will fight for his rights and resent imposition than of one who will knuckle down to hard and menial work and ask no questions.

And so there are two sides to the question of "Succeeding With What You Have." The old-fashioned way is doubtless the best in the majority of cases, but, according to this millionaire author's own admission, it makes some difference what kind of a man or firm the struggling youngster is working for.

It is claimed in some quarters that the Germans are largely directing the financial and diplomatic affairs of Mexico. At a time like this some allowance must be made for "claims," and yet if it is true that the Germans are virtually "running" Mexico, the chances are that the management will be superior to that of recent years, though it would not be especially acceptable to the United States just now.

It is announced from Washington that Federal investigation of railroad transportation is to be continued. If the threatened strike comes it will not take the investigators long to tell what the trouble is. But it is to be hoped and believed that the country will be spared the affliction of a great railroad strike at this time, or, for that matter, at any other time.

Cardinal Gibbons preaches true Americanism to the youth of the land when he says: "I want every boy to be 100 per cent patriotic, so that whenever an emergency comes he will be ready to stand up for the dignity and honor of his country and hold back at no sacrifice in maintaining the rights of the greatest land on earth."

The governors of the New England states have met in Boston and pledged their support to the president in case of war. This was all right in its way, in spite of the fact that formality of any kind ought not to be necessary to assure the head of the nation of the loyal support of all the people in time of trouble.

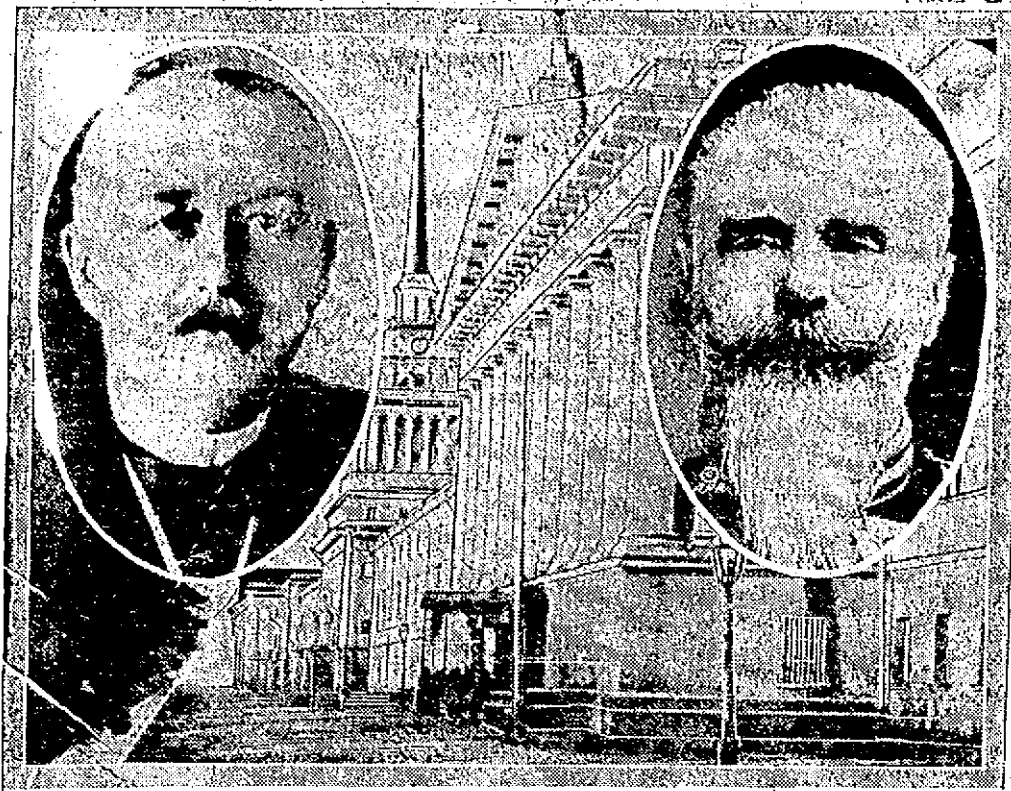

Many shipyards that have been closed for years are now rushed with business because of the exceptional demand for craft of all kinds caused by the war. It is indeed an ill wind that blows nobody good, and the owners of the shipyards that were so long idle are happy. Ditto their employees.

The newspapers of the country should cheerfully accede to the government's request that they publish nothing which might give aid and comfort to those who have brought the nation to the verge of war. And it is safe to assume that they will.

Some weather prophets are waving their arms and warning people to prepare for a late spring because they have seen wild geese flying southward. But did not the geese first come from the south, and was not that a sign of an early spring?

The National Civic Federation is considering plans to avert labor strikes in case of war. Such a step ought not to be necessary. Workmen guilty of striking at such a time would be little better than the enemy in front.

Building and Scene Where Russian Reactionaries Were Caught.

MINISTER PROTOPOPOFF ADMIRALTY BUILDING BORIS STURMER.

The reactionaries of the old Russian Imperial Council, headed by Protopopoff, minister of the interior, most powerful man in the reactionary government, and former Premier Sturmer, accused not only of reactionary policies, but of treachery, made their last stand in the Admiralty Building in Petrograd. There they held a council, guarded by the one remaining "loyal" regiment. They were overpowered and thrown into jail.

Averting the Great Railroad Strike
(From the Boston Herald)

We expect to see no railroad strike. It would be too calamitous, too disloyal at this particular juncture for any body of men calling themselves Americans seriously to consider. Sane counsels within the organization are already showing their effect, and we have no doubt that the mediation board which President Wilson has dispatched to the scene of conflict will be able to evolve a settlement.

Organized labor can find no fault with a board which includes Samuel Gompers himself, William B. Wilson, who has conducted the department of labor as if his part in the government was to promote the interests of organized labor—these two making half the board—and on the other side a railroad president now giving his time to the task of national defense, and Mr. Taft, a member of the cabinet, and so a man not wholly apart from the concerns and interests of politics. Labor ought to fare well with such mediators. And we believe two of these men, without whose adhesion no plan can prevail, will insist on fair play to both sides.

But our larger reason for expecting to see a settlement arises from our perception of the common-sense of the situation. No great group of labor organizations can afford to advertise themselves in such a way at such a time. The world was appalled by the strike of the South Wales coal miners in the earlier days of the war, as a shocking exhibition of inherent weakness in the British empire. We look for no such disclosure here. And so we expect the trains to continue running.

Strike Would Be Worse Than War
(From the Leviston Sun)

If there were some universal method of weighing or measuring values that go to the making of our daily life we believe it would show that the effect of the strike is not now being accurately classified.

They talk about the crisis in our relations with Germany, the extraordinary demands for transportation of troops, the supply of materials to the shipyards, the discredit in the eyes of the world, especially of Germany.

Far larger, fuller of suffering and shame and loss, is the effect of the strike on the daily life of our hundred millions of people. On the people who are working every day, getting their pay every week or two, buying their necessities and luxuries, paying their rent and taxes—the people who have been working and paying in much the same way all through the war, all through the past twenty years. The railroad is our most powerful labor-saving machine. It is at the foundation of modern industry. It is the carrier of our burdens. The railroad is fundamental in the high average of comfort we have become accustomed to.

The fairly normal operation of the railroads is as essential as is the circulation of the blood. This hundred millions of people living in unprecedented luxury and comfort, in the varied occupations of the cities, in the shops, in the mines, on the farms, could not keep alive without the railroads.

The harm to come to our daily lives adjusted to peaceful routine is many times greater than any harm that Germany can do to us. Many times greater than the discredit the railroad paralysis will bring us in the eyes of the world.

A Vocation For the Child
(From the New Cannon, Conn., Advertiser.)

Do you wish your child to be happy? Is there something that he has shown a strong interest in for a number of years get him a chance to play with or study or work at it to the fullest possible extent. Let him have also broad training, culture, accomplishments, if you can. But don't force him from his own right of way upon any siding of your own fancy. When he gets ready to choose his calling insist that the main issue is that he shall be able to do what he is going to do. He must be a barber, when you wanted him to be a minister. Well, he had better be a good and happy barber than a discouraged minister. For "happy" is the man who has found his work.

The Future Menace

(From the Gloucester Times)

That Germany intends to challenge the Monroe doctrine in years to come is the conclusion of many men who have carefully studied the Central and South American situation. That she is at present deep in intrigues in order to establish herself firmly on this continent would seem to be clear from recent revelations.

The movement of German reservists to Mexico is but another bit of evidence in connection with the expressed purpose of Germany to use that country against the United States in case of war, provided she is able to do so. She has been trading on the anti-American feeling of Mexico and the egregious ambition and conceit of Carranza who seems to imagine that in some way he can be kept on a practical throne by German assistance. He ought to know that all of this would be done not for his benefit but for the assumed good of Germany.

We have recently had evidence of German intrigue in Columbia, in Cuba, in Venezuela and in Brazil. If Germany should as the result of this war lose finally all of her colonies, she would probably take up in earnest her plan for the peaceful penetration of South America and this of course would be followed, as always with her by political penetration. Thereby our Monroe doctrine would be menaced and the United States would be face to face with the biggest problem of its career.

For reasons such as these many thoughtful Americans are rapidly coming to the conclusion that the clash which Germany seems to intend had far better come now than later. By furthering the alliance which will defeat her plans for world domination, and by having part in the peaceful council, and by having made ourselves ready to resist any and all aggression, we can accomplish now what would be far more difficult in years to come. With all of our good will, it seems impossible to live on friendly terms with a government which does not want to be thoroughly friendly. Trouble now will probably avert bigger trouble later.

Starving American Women
(From the Hastings, Noh, Tribune.)

It does seem strange that in these days of so much war prosperity in this country there should be hundreds of women band themselves together in the nation's metropolis and storm the city hall and cry for bread.

Such a scene could be forgiven if it occurred in Europe, but there is no excuse for it here in the world's greatest and richest land.

But such a condition does exist right here—and it is all the fault of the system that makes multi-millionaires in such short time.

There are millions of bushels of wheat stored up in elevators that cannot be shipped because of the car shortage, or for the purpose of boosting the price up to a higher point. There is plenty of wheat. The banks are flooded with gold. And yet starving women, with babes in arms, cry for bread.

Who are starving American women and children?

The capitalists, for they, and they alone, create false prices.

There is something radically wrong with a system under which such conditions do exist—and until the system is changed it behooves all good American citizens to refrain from criticizing conditions in Europe.

Why Should He Appeal?
(From the Wilmington, Del., Every Evening)

William J. Burns, the somewhat famous detective, was convicted in New York City last week, on a charge of trespass, and his sentence was a fine of $100 or imprisonment for thirty days in default. He paid the fine under protest, and will take an appeal.

The circumstances of his offending, however, make it surprising that he should think of appealing. He is a private detective and as such, he entered the office of a law firm and made copies of letters, which he turned over to those who had employed him to do the work.

Even a legally appointed detective or a policeman or constable would have no right to enter upon private premises and take over private property. They would have to first secure legal warrant for the intrusion.

The right of man to peaceful possession of his property is inviolable. The judge who sentenced Burns said: "No detective, no private detective, has any right to enter a place of business in order to get information for purposes of his own." Precepts of the past buttress this contention very strongly. Sir Edward Coke laid down the doctrine that "a man's house is his castle," and amplified it to the extent that "the house of every one is to him as his castle and fortress, as well for his defence against injury and violence as for his repose."

And William Pitt, the "great commoner" of England, in opposing a bill that involved the right of search and seizure to a drastic extent, said: "The poorest man may in his cottage bid defiance to all the force of the Crown. It may be frail, its roof may shake, the wind may blow through it; the storms may enter, the rain may enter; but the King of England cannot enter; all his forces dare not cross the threshold of the ruined tenement."

Who can successfully defend the right of a private detective to trespass on private property, in the face of such testimony?

One Reason Why Wilson Wins
(From the Buffalo Enquirer, Dem.)

One reason why the Republican party is "in wrong" with the country is because it is permitting its stand on public questions to be dictated by the astute gentleman who occupies the White House.

President Wilson enjoys the unique advantage of being able to place the enemy where he wants them and makes the most of it. All that the president has to do to maneuver his foes to the wrong side of any question is to take the right side himself. When the president takes the right side, the Republican spokesmen at Washington and Republican spokesmen everywhere straightway rush pell-mell to the other side. Having no guide except "agin" the president, first, last and all the time, they permit him to choose his positions thereby determining their. The result is that the president's antagonists are maneuvered into the positions that assist their destruction.

In their eagerness to be contrary, the Republicans even abandon their own positions when the president moves over to join them. If any of his stands should naturally win Republican support, they are his stands for compulsory delay of railroad strikes until after official investigation and for the enforcement of peace by an international league. No sooner does the president make these propositions, however, than the Republicans abandon their predilections, putting up opposition where support would be anticipated, defeating the former in committee and proposing solemn resolutions against the latter.

Who could not win in politics and war if allowed, as Wilson is, to dictate the movements of his adversaries?

RUSSIA RENEWS PLEDGE TO CARRY ON WAR

New Government Notifies All Entente Powers That They Will Keep Their Agreement

Petrograd, via London, March 18.—With the final cementing of the elements concerned in the construction of the new government upon the ruins of the old, the new cabinet ministers relieved by the heavy "weight" of the needless conferences of the last few days, in which they suffered many anxious hours, have assumed the posts to which they were assigned. Prof. Paul N. Milyukoff spent yesterday at the foreign office, in the afternoon he received the diplomatic representatives of the allies, after which he entered upon a long cabinet conference.

One of the first acts of the minister was to send a series of cable messages to the Russian diplomats abroad to the effect that Russia was united in the desire to fight on the war with the allies, the determination to continue the conflict until victory is achieved being stronger than ever.

The cabinet, which has been meeting since the resolution in the house of parliament where its members have been living day and night, met today for the first time at the ministry of the interior.

The first meeting of the Holy Synod, since the Revolution, was held today under the presidency of the Metropolitan of Kiev. The new procurator-general of the Holy Synod, M. Lyoff, in opening the sitting, said he rejoiced at the advent of freedom of the Orthodox church. He ordered the removal of the imperial chair from the conference room, symbolizing termination of interference by the Emperor in the affairs of the church.

The metropolitan and other members of the Synod, said a new era for the Orthodox church had come.

Public subscriptions for released political prisoners and for the families of men killed in the street fighting have been opened. The Russo-Asiatic bank has subscribed 50,000 pounds for the released political prisoners.

The revolution overtook the imperial family when all but Grand Duchess Marie of the children were afflicted with measles. Grand Duke Alexis, the 12-year-old erstwhile heir, who was reported dead, still lives, but is very ill. His attack of measles was complicated by the breaking out of the old wound in his foot, dating from the alleged attempt on his life about four years ago. He was reported today as likely to recover. He contracted the malady from a comrade at the front.

The grand duke is being attended by his mother and the old sailor, Derzhanke, who has been his constant companion.

Grand Duchess Tatiana is in a serious condition and oxygen has been administered.

The armies in the field have advised that the abdication of the Emperor has been enthusiastically acquiesced in, according to a foreign official. Telegrams from virtually all of the commanders have been received assuring the support of the government guaranteed in advance of General Michael Alexeeff, chief of staff.

Meanwhile the last vestiges of the empire are disappearing. Portraits of the erstwhile members of the imperial family, once seen upon the walls of almost every government office, have been removed. While the correspondent of the Associated Press waited in an anti room of the foreign minister's office, a liveried attendant mounted a chair and quietly took down portraits of the former Emperor and Empress. The national colors with their eagles have given place to plain red flags, one of which now floats over the famous winter palace.

The proper designation of the new government appears to puzzle even officials. "Government committee," is the appellation used in the foreign office dispatches abroad. Although temporary it is permanent compared with the first Duma committee, although it is contemplated that the cabinet heads shall continue to govern only until those elected by a constitutional assembly shall replace them. The assembly which shall be selected by popular vote, will be composed of approximately 600.

It will be the business of the assembly to determine the form of the future government and draft a new constitution. Confidence is everywhere expressed that under the direction of the new government the military and industrial forces of the country will be enabled to carry on operations upon a much larger scale than before and considerably magnify their efforts towards a speedy termination of the war.

ALLIES CONTINUE OFFENSIVE DRIVE

Paris, March 19.—The Allies' victory on the Somme front in France is now complete, but the offensive of the British and French continues in full swing. German troops retreating south of the Somme are being pursued by the French. The French have reoccupied Guiscard and at several points are, astride the Ham-Noye railroads, French troops are advancing toward St. Quentin with Bapaume, Peronne and Comblis in their hands. The Allies have the three big objectives which they set out to take. British and French soldiers have captured about 1000 square miles of ground from the Germans before Arras and the Alsne but principally on their Somme front since the grand offensive, opened on July 1, 1916. The advance at some points was 15 miles deep.

AFTER I'M DEAD

Sorrow will last but for a day.
After I'm dead;
Some will forget in turning away
From the inanimate, pulseless clay;
Others will sorrow but for a day—
After I'm dead.

Some will speak of the good deeds done,
After I'm dead;
Others will converse of my faults alone;
Wonder where such a spirit has flown;
One will remember to love, but one—
After I'm dead.

Poes will hide their innings with sighs,
After I'm dead;
Hypocrites wipe the tears from their eyes;
Wolves appear at my grave in disguise
Forgetting all their slander and lies—
After I'm dead.

Friends will shudder when I am laid,
After I'm dead;
Under a drooping willow tree's shade,
In a bed by no loving hand's made;
Then from their memories I shall fade
After I'm dead.

Though forgotten by all the rest,
After I'm dead,
I shall still live in one faithful breast;
One who will hold me her dearest and best—
After I'm dead.

Love will live 'till eternity's light—
After I'm dead;
—1893, Samuel Long.

ALLIES DRIVE GERMANS ON A 100 MILE FRONT

Both British and French Lines Advance Miles Into German Trenches--Turks in Full Retreat

ALLIES London, March 18.—Sweeping forward on a combined front of more than 100 miles, the British and French forces are pressing the retreating Germans hard from Arras to south of Ghent and between the Aisne and Alsace.

Since yesterday the British have captured the important towns of Nesle, Chaulnes and Peronne, together with more than 60 villages.

Along a 45-mile front they have entered German positions to a depth of 10 miles in places.

The French advance continued today between the Aisne and Alsace on a front of 37 miles. French cavalry took the town of Noyon at 10 o'clock this morning. Mounted detachments also entered Nesle.

In the direction of Ham, on the Somme River, the French forward movement reached a depth of about 12 1/2 miles.

North of Soissons the French have occupied Crouy and in the same district have taken the villages of Carpenot, Morsam and Nouvron Vignere.

So rapid became the pursuit of the Germans retreating in the Aisne and Somme sectors today that the British cavalry came into play after restless months of waiting and longing. It has been a wonderful sight to see the cavalry squadrons moving toward the front for several days past. They have included some of the crack English regiments, looking very grim and businesslike in steel helmets and equipped with gas masks.

The fine drying weather of the past three days has helped the pursuit, which in some places has reached solid ground that has been little damaged by shell fire.

It was officially stated today that poisoned wells were found in the village of Barleux, southwest of Peronne, which was occupied by the British in the wake of the retreating German garrisons. This serious accusation was made in a report by the British doctors on an analysis of the water. The British test all waters in occupied territories in order to safeguard the troops from various diseases. They were startled to find that the Barleux wells contained a deadly poison.

Other wells in the line of the German retreat have been filled up, but this was the first indication of poison in any of the wells.

The German War Office admits a "systematic retirement" between Arras and the Oise in a statement today which says:

"Between Arras and the Oise the British and French, in a strip of land systematically abandoned by us, occupied our former positions and several towns, among which are Bapaume, Peronne, Roye and Noyon. Our protecting troops inflicted considerable losses on the enemy and then gave way, as had been ordered."

Peronne was one of the strongholds of the Germans on the Franco-Belgian front. It is a town of about 1000, on the Somme, and is of strategic importance on account of its railway and highroad connections. It was invested on three sides and the retirement of the Germans to the north and south made the abandonment of this town inevitable.

In a supplementary official report issued tonight it is announced that "in the strip of land between Arras and the Aisne, voluntarily evacuated by us, only in some places are our protecting groups in fighting touch with the hostile cavalry and infantry."

Gen. Maude's British army in Mesopotamia has put the Turks to rout, it is announced officially. On Friday afternoon the Turks were in full flight toward Samarra, 75 miles northwest of Bagdad. The statement follows:

"In the fighting on Wednesday on the right bank of the Tigris, already reported, the Turkish rear guard was driven from a succession of ridges to a strong position covering the railway station at Mushaid. Our troops continued to attack the position during the night and finally captured it at 3 o'clock on Thursday morning. The enemy retiring hastily."

"The retreat continued during Thursday and Friday afternoon and the whole enemy force, consisting of remnants of three Turkish divisions, was in full flight in the direction of Samarra. On the morning of Friday the enemy were struggling over a distance of 20 miles, with their rear 25 miles north of the scene of the fighting Wednesday."

The capture by the Russians of the city of Van, in Turkish Armenia, is reported in a dispatch from Petrograd.

The flight of the Turks before Russian columns advancing through Persia continues. A large force of Turks has been cut off and fled into the mountains.

NAVY NOTES

Will Remove Crews

Secretary Daniels announced on Saturday that he has decided to remove the crews of the interned German commerce raiders at the Philadelphia navy yard, following closely a request for such action by Mayor Smith and other leading citizens who were stirred by the recent disclosures of a smuggling plot resulting in the arrest here of five persons by agents of the department of justice. It was said that the presence of the sailors in the navy yard constituted a menace.

Want Firemen and Mechanics

Several recruiting parties ranging from two to four men started from the Charlestown navy yard today and will visit every inland city and town in Rockingham county for the purpose of securing recruits for the navy. Third-class firemen and mechanics are now in great demand by the navy. These will be assigned to duty on the destroyers Tucker and Wainwright, whose crews have been depleted because of assignment of their men to other ships in the navy. Both of these vessels recently arrived at the Charlestown navy yard after several months' duties in foreign waters.

To Study With the Navy

Bringing ten naval lieutenants of the Argentine Republic, the Argentine transport Pampa, arrived at Boston Saturday. The officers come here under an arrangement between this government and their government to study construction and operation of submarines, battleships and airplanes. The principal interest is felt in submarines, which have been developed so wonderfully during the conflict abroad. Four of the young officers are to be assigned to this branch of the service, three will be sent to the newer battleships and the remaining three

HON. WILLIAM E. CHANDLER CRITICALLY ILL IN WASHINGTON

W. E. Chandler

Washington, March 18.—Hon. William E. Chandler, of Concord, N. H., former Senator from New Hampshire and ex-Secretary of the Navy, is critically ill here at his home, suffering from a shock. Because of his advanced age his recovery is considered by his physicians as being doubtful. Mr. Chandler is 80.

The ex-Senator caught cold inauguration day and soon after was placed under the care of physicians and a trained nurse. His condition has been growing worse daily. Should Mr. Chandler's illness prove fatal it will make the second death of a New Hampshire man brought about by the weather on inauguration day as Congressman Sullyway's fatal illness was contracted at that time.

That Mr. Chandler had suffered a shock was not given out until today, his non-appearance being credited to a severe cold. At present, with slight hopes being held for his recovery, his physicians believed it best to give out the fact. He had been actively engaged in public affairs in an unofficial way up until the time of his sudden illness. At a late hour tonight it was announced that although he was in a critical condition, it is expected that he will survive for several days.

will go to Pensacola to join the air squad.

For a time it was feared that the strained relations between the United States and Germany might prevent the carrying out of the arrangements made by Ambassador Naun, but the navy department in Washington assured him that there would be no change in the plans.

Increase in Marine Corps

The marine corps now numbers 12,661 men as the result of the increased enlistments in February.

Reported for Duty Today

James Quill of this city, chief musician, U. S. N., retired, who has been called back to the service of the navy, reported for duty at the Charlestown navy yard today.

New Secretary

Howard A. Daniels of North Carolina, who has been private secretary to Secretary Daniels since March 4, 1913, and has rendered especially meritorious service, has resigned that office to accept the position of associate editor of the Sunday School Times of Philadelphia.

His retirement from the navy department has resulted in the promotion of Frank H. Smith, who has been confidential clerk of Mr. Daniels for several years at $2,250 a year, to the office of private secretary at $2,500 a year, and the promotion of John H. May from a clerkship at $1,600 to the office of confidential clerk at $2,250.

Nearly 500 on Train

The yard workmen's train over the Boston and Maine is now carrying nearly 500 passengers' daily between Portsmouth and the government reservation.

To Put on Girl Operators

The government is planning to place women operators in the central telephone exchange at the Portsmouth navy yard. Since the opening of the exchange the work has been done by the marine guard.

Inspecting Boats

The steamer Lynx, with crew from the Charlestown navy yard, on recruiting along the coast put in here today where several motor boats were inspected which might be needed for service in coast defense.

OLYMPIA THEATRE NOTES

Perfect films in the future will be in color, says a prominent producer.

Louise Fazenda, the well known Keystone comedienne, has been married 84 times as a comedienne, but when it came to the real thing she ran out of the church at Los Angeles, recently. She gives for her reasons for running as: There was no pie, no hose, no Keystone cops. She became panicky and didn't know what to do. Murray, who acted as best man, would because she was afraid that Charles suddenly hit the minister over the head with a gavel and she kept turning her head for fear that the Keystone police would drag her husband.

away. So the wedding bells did not ring.

We offer one of our tremendous programs on Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Dorothy Gish has the star role in "The Little Yank," a Triangle Fine Arts production with the great Civil War as its theme.

It is said that it seems as if the great battle scenes of "The Birth of a Nation" have been transferred to "The Little Yank."

Marie Dora stars in "Common Ground," a splendidly done Paramount-Lasky picture, depicting a girl's regeneration, through her love for a young judge.

Charles Bushman and Beverly Bayne appear in a wonderful advantage in the sixth and latest episode of the $1,000,000 hyper-serial, "The Great Secret."

And to follow up this great bill, we begin to announce the return of the famous Triangle Keystone comedies, which will be shown every Monday and Tuesday and Friday and Saturday.

Don't miss the comedy, "Love Under Cover," tonight. It's a scream.

Watch for special announcements regarding Wednesday's and Thursday's bill.

Come early tonight.

BUSY WEEK FOR LEGISLATORS

Tuesday the Big Day for Both Parties; License Law on Wednesday.

Concord, March 18.—With both the Republican and Democratic state committees here to arrange for the first district congressional caucuses and conventions, the Democrats celebrating President Jackson's anniversary, ex-Attorney General Wickeshaum, two important special orders due for debating in the legislature, the meeting of state editors with the New Hampshire Defense League, out to mention a few other events stated, Tuesday promises to be a fairly full day in Concord.

The Democratic committee meeting will be in the afternoon in Capital hall on Warren street and the Republican committee in the headquarters of Union hall in the evening. The Jackson dinner is to be given in Phelan hall in the evening, with Senator Alice Pomeroy of Ohio as the speaker. Mr. Wickeshaum will speak on foreign relations, in Representatives' hall during the legislative recess and the defense league will be holding forth in the council chamber during the morning and at the Eagle at luncheon later. Mr. Wickeshaum comes on the invitation of the Defense League.

Special Orders in House

In the house the special orders are on capital punishment and the fish and game bill, either one a day's work, as each includes profuse oratory. Representative John G. Winant of Concord, introducer of the bill, has charge of the measure to abolish capital punishment, which came from the Judiciary with an "expedient" report. Mr. Winant however, desires to get an expression of opinion from the house before the bill is laid away and in all probability there will be a roll call. At the last session the debate on this bill, then fathered and steered along its precarious course by Levin Chase, was one of the warm incidents of the session. Mr. Chase's speech on it, being one of the most effective delivered in the session, carrying the house off its feet, so that it was put up to the senate finally to kill the bill.

Next Tuesday, Mr. Winant will probably have to do the heavy lifting for his bill without much assistance, while the opposition numbers several of the best debaters in the house who will rally for the slaughter. If it seems to be necessary, the indications are that the bill will not survive Tuesday's skirmish.

It is a certainty that there will be no lack of speakers on the fish and game bill. Dr. Bell who has piloted the bill through two sets of hearings in his fish and game committee, is confident the house will back his committee up, although the fishing license still remains in a modified form and some other features strenuously objected to in the committee hearings, are intact in the new draft. The committee has acceded to the demands for cutting out the fishing license by exempting those who restrict their fishing to their own townships. They will not have to contribute toward the stocking of the ponds and streams by paying a dollar for a license unless they desire to explore streams in all other townships. Nevertheless, there will be vigorous opposition to the handwork of the committee by members who simply cannot resist an opportunity to demonstrate their knowledge of fishing and hunting lore.

The debates on the Tuesday special orders, however, will be no less set to compared to the fray set for Wednesday, when the Lewis bill to repeal the present local option law is to come up for a decision of the house. The prohibitionists are bristling of confidence and will be surprised if they lose out Wednesday. It is certain to be the closest vote ever recorded for the repeal of the bill since its passage 14 years ago.

YES REASONS FOR JOINING ORGANIZATION

MEMBER OF PUBLICITY COMMITTEE OF PROPOSED CHAMBER OF COMMERCE SPEAKS OF ITS VALUE.

One of the members of the publicity committee of the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Portsmouth, which is organized at a big mass meeting Tuesday evening in Freeman's hall, believes that every man in the city of Portsmouth should become a member of the body. He quoted James Bryce of England, Ambassador to the United States, as saying, "There is no influence in any community more potent for the accomplishment of good than that of the business and professional men unselfishly banded together for the purpose of promoting the general welfare of the entire citizenship." He said last evening in an interview: "I have been asked a number of times when approaching men on the question of joining this association, why should I be a member of the Chamber of Commerce? There are a good many reasons why every citizen should be a member and after listening to the speakers at the meeting on Tuesday it is doubtful if any will fail to see the reason. It is a question frequently asked of those invited to become members. The answer is to improve local business conditions, seek new industries, make Portsmouth and its immediate vicinity a bigger and better community, look after railway and shipping facilities, approve or disapprove legislative measures concerning the community, maintain service departments which will aid and protect the members and citizens in every way. The Chamber of Commerce is a voluntary Public Service Commission composed of every citizen who has the interest of his city and neighbor at heart. By helping his city he is helping himself by making business conditions better. The value of such a membership should be apparent to every man, whether in business or a property owner. It distinguishes a citizen from a mere resident. The Chamber of Commerce is devoted to business and business interests as the following to say of the value of chambers of commerce: No individual business is large enough to handle all the problems which must confront it. The most effective solution ever devised is the joining of counsel and effort through chambers of commerce. With their local, state, national, and international organizations, they offer the man a unique opportunity to broaden his thought and make it count. The meeting will open at 6:30 in the evening with the serving of a dinner. The invitation to attend this dinner and meeting is general to every man within the trade limits of Portsmouth and that is the greater part of Rockingham County and York County in Maine. At least three hundred will be present and the several speakers are among the best men procurable, men who have had experience with the successes of similar associations, and can tell what they will do for Portsmouth. There will be an opportunity given every one attending to express his views on the questions, and an attempt will be made to answer any question which may be asked concerning the proposed organization. The members of the publicity committee expect that at least 500 members will be pledged as charter members of the Portsmouth Chamber of Commerce."

OBITUARY

Lorenzo D. Duntley

The death of Lorenzo D. Duntley occurred at Greenland, N. H., Saturday March 17th, at 3 p. m. Mr. Duntley was one of Greenland's oldest and beloved citizens. He was born in Thornton, N. H., Feb. 13th, 1832, the son of Hazen and Phoebe (Leighton) Duntley. He came to Bay Side, Greenland, when quite young, and for several years was engaged in the boat shoe making business. Later he moved to Greenland Village, where he was in the grocery business until the spring of 1914 when he sold out to his son-in-law, Irving Haxton. Mr. Duntley has held many positions of trust. He was Post Master for several years, town clerk for many years and representative from 1903 to 1905. Mr. Duntley was one of the oldest Masons of the state. He was a past master of the old Whitcomb Lodge of Greenland and a member of St. John's Lodge of this city. He was a loving husband and kind father and will be mourned by all who knew him, not only in Greenland but Portsmouth and elsewhere. Besides a widow he is survived by two sons, and one daughter, George W. Duntley of Greenland, Curtis W. Duntley of this city and Mrs. Irving Haxton of Greenland and four grand children, Mrs. Ruth Robinson of Danvers, Mass., Florence M. Duntley of Stevens Point, Wisconsin, and Frank and Russell Haxton of Greenland. Mr. Duntley was the oldest son and next oldest of a family of nine. A brother, J. L. Duntley of Rochester, a former shoe manufacturer, who died in 1915, had Duntley a blacksmith of Milton, N. H., died in 1916. Three sisters, Mrs. Emily Downs of Milton, Mrs. John Plakham of Milton and Mrs. John Conson of Farmington, died several years ago. Another sister, Mrs. H. Reynolds of Farmington died in 1914. One brother, Amos Duntley of Rochester and one sister Mrs. Albert Nutter of Farmington, N. H., are still living.

PLANTING VEGETABLES FOR WINTER USE

Washington, D. C., March 18.—There are a number of vegetables, which although grown in the summer are usually planted in the following winter. An adequate supply of these produced in the home garden will do much to make the family's winter fare more attractive and more economical. Among the garden products of this type may be named cabbage, carrots, parsnips, turnips and rutabagas.

Both early and late varieties of cabbage are grown extensively. In the north early cabbage may be planted in the hotbed during February and transplanted to the open ground as soon as the soil is ready to be worked. For a late crop it is customary to plant the seeds in a bed in the open ground in May or June and transplant them to the garden in July. For cabbage of this character the soil should be heavy and more retentive of moisture than for early cabbage which requires a rich, warm soil in order to reach maturity quickly. For the late variety it is not desirable to have too rich a soil, as the heads are liable to burst. Cabbages should be set in rows 30 to 36 inches apart, the plants standing 14 to 18 inches apart in the row.

To store cabbage the heads must be buried in pits or placed in cellars. One method is to dig a trench about 18 inches deep and three feet wide and set the cabbage upright and the heads close together, and the roots embedded in the soil. When cold weather comes the heads are covered lightly with straw and 3 or four inches of earth put in. Slight freezing does not injure cabbage, but it should not be subject to repeated freezing and thawing. Early cabbage cannot be kept, as it does not stand hot weather well. It should be used soon after it has formed a solid head.

Chiffonier is cultivated in much the same way as cabbage, but when the heads begin to develop the leaves may be tied over them in order to exclude the light and keep the heads white. Chiffonier requires a rich, moist soil and thrives best under irrigation. The tender heads of this vegetable are boiled with butter or cream, and also used for pickling.

The roots of the parsnip are dug late in the fall and stored in cellars or pits much as cabbage is, or else are allowed to remain until they are grown and are dug as required for use. All roots not dug during the winter, however, should be removed from the garden as they will produce seed the second season and become of a weedy nature. When the parsnip has been allowed to run wild in this way, the root is considered to be poisonous.

The seeds of parsnips should be sown as early as convenient in the spring in rows 18 inches to 3 feet apart. The plants should later be thinned to stand three inches apart in the row. A rich soil with frequent cultivation is necessary for success with this crop. The roots are boiled until tender and then cut in slices and browned in butter or roasted with meat in the same way that potatoes are.

Carrots are cultivated in practically the same way as the parsnip, but are not thinned so much and are allowed to grow almost as quickly as planted. Those not used during the summer are dug in the autumn and stored in the same manner as parsnips or turnips. If there is a surplus it may be fed sparingly to horses and mules or to cattle.

Turnips are used largely in combination with potatoes, cabbage and meat in boiled dishes. They are also mashed like potatoes and are a desirable addition to the ordinary winter fare. They require a rich soil and may be grown either as an early or a late crop. For a late crop it is customary to sow the seeds broadcast on land from which some early crop has been removed. In the north this is generally done during July or August, but the usual time is later, in the south. The plants are quite hardy and the roots need not be gathered until after several frosts. They may then be stored in a cellar or buried in a pit outside. Before storing the tops should be removed. If an early crop is desired the seed should be sown in drills 12 to 18 inches apart as early in the spring as the condition of the soil will permit. After the plants appear they are thinned to about 3 inches. Two pounds of seed are required to plant an acre.

Men Who Made Russian Revolution Possible

PRINCE GEO. LYOFF, GRAND DUKE NICHOLAS, GENERAL BRUSILOFF, PROF. MILUKOFF.

The men who made the almost bloodless revolution in Russia possible were Prince George Lyoff, named as new premier; Grand Duke Nicholas, uncle of the czar and commander of all Russian armies during the first part of the war; General A. A. Brusiloff, now commander of the Russian armies on the western front, and Professor Paul N. Milukoff, liberal leader in the Duma. The grand duke will probably become commander in chief of all Russia's armies, while Professor Milukoff has already been made foreign minister in the new cabinet.

In the death of J. Balknap Guppy the city of Dover lost a valuable citizen. Mr. Guppy has given the city two playgrounds and a public park and he was public spirited in every way.

FIRST PARADE OF NEW COMPANY HELD SATURDAY

MORLEY BUTTON CO. STEAM FITTERS FORMED IMPROMPTU MILITARY COMPANY ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

The steamfitters and their assistants in the Morley Button Manufacturing company believe in preparedness. This was demonstrated on Saturday when they organized a military company. The act was brought about by patriotism, called forth by the day, March 17 being Evacuation day, and also St. Patrick's day. Their demonstration proved that some of them had not forgotten their military training gained in the service of the Boston School Regiment which received while members of Boston high schools.

In place of regulation uniforms their ordinary clothing was worn with the decorations running chiefly to crepe paper green sashes, belts, and cap ornaments. The company was to have been under command of Major McNulty, but owing to a slight indisposition on his part the command was taken by "Col." Jack Hart, well known as a baseball player, and claimed by his friends as one of the leaders among the prize dancers in this county.

The company made a brave showing as it marched up Islington street and the members were cheered and applauded all along the line. While not large in numbers the company is certainly strong in feeling and they all claim to be ready to meet any number of possible invaders. The company was organized with the officers as follows:

- Col. Jack Hart.
- Captain, McDonald.
- Lieutenant, Phelan.
- Quartermaster, Sgt. McNulty.
- 1st Sgt., Mueller.
- 2d Sgt., Johnson.
- 3d Sgt., Vaughan.
- Corporals, Costanza, Brophy, and Givins.
- Staff and department officers—Safefly, water boy; Betzer, teamster; Baxter, cook; Burke, hospital steward; Furgerson, drill master.

DO NOT WANT RINGLING BROS. AT MANCHESTER

Ringling Brothers circus has requested a date for an exhibition in Manchester on Thursday, June 14, and the merchants of that city are out in a protest against it. The circus management says that is the only available date and Manchester can take it or leave it. Five business concerns have sent representatives to the city council members. They objected to the granting of the license, as this is one of the two big business days of the week, and Thursday night always means extra sales for each merchant. They cited the fact that the circus representatives have come here before with the same plea and that a license was granted to them for that day, which resulted in the loss of several hundred dollars to Manchester merchants.

The Manchester Publicity Association and Chamber of Commerce is supporting their objection.

If Manchester refuses to grant the required license, the proposed date would be a good one for Portsmouth where the big show could draw a capacity house from this city and the surrounding towns.

The walking does not improve as rapidly as some would like, but it is getting better all the time, and that helps some.

With the conference in New York still in session the railroad situation is not very much better than it was on Saturday morning.

FRENCH CABINET SUCCEUMBS TO BITTER ATTACKS

FRENCH PARLIAMENT FORCES BRIAND MINISTRY TO RESIGN THEIR OFFICES

Paris, March 18 12.45 a. m.—The French cabinet, headed by Premier Briand, has resigned.

An official note given out after the cabinet meeting says: "The council of ministers met to-night (Saturday) at 8 p. m. The Premier reported on various consultations he had had with a view to completing the cabinet, so it could present itself to the chamber."

"After hearing him, the cabinet decided that circumstances compelled it to leave to the President of the republic the complete liberty to interpret the situation in the best interests of national defense. Consequently the President of the republic put into the hands of the President of the republic the resignation of the cabinet."

The Briand ministry has been attacked in the French Parliament repeatedly during the past few weeks on account of its economic policy. It succeeded the Viviani cabinet in October, 1915, and was reorganized last December when the number of ministerial portfolios was decreased and a war council appointed.

The war council included Premier Briand, Mr. Ribot, minister of finance; General Lyautey, minister of war; Rear Admiral Lacroix, minister of marine; and M. Thomas, minister of national manufactures.

Attacks by the opposition in Parliament resulted on Wednesday in the sudden resignation of General Lyautey as minister of war. The Chamber of Deputies had held a secret session Wednesday in which the French aviation service was discussed. No specific attack was made on General Lyautey and it was explained that his resignation which he refused to reconsider, resulted from his ignorance of parliamentary procedure.

Admiral Lacroix was given the war portfolio temporarily.

Aristide Briand was premier during most of 1909, 1910 and 1911 and again for two months in 1913.

largely castoffs from other major league clubs and mould them into a pennant winner had something coming to him in the line of laurels. And so he went down on the list as a regular manager.

Last year the Phils were looked upon by many critics as the club that should have won the pennant. But the Phils did not copy although they finished on the heels of the champion Dodgers. The same has been contended for the Boston Braves.

This year with the rejuvenated Ottens looming up as pennant contenders the road of the Phils will be rougher to travel, and the Moran men will have to play bang-up ball to keep in the fight.

Few changes are looked for in the lineup of the Phils this year. Garvy Cravitt will be back with the club and if he is not used as a regular will probably play the utility role. Mr. Walker and Cooper with Dode Pastork and Whitted form a strong outfield lineup.

The infield combination of the Phils with Laderous, Bancroft, stock, and Niehoff all in the harness will probably open the season unless some ambitious rookie springs a surprise, not likely however. The Phils have two Gehms working with them this year. They are Rodis and Raymond Gonzalez, the latter a brother of the Gonzales boys now in the National league.

Bill Killefer if he can keep out of the hospital will be the kingpin of the catching staff. Alexander, pitching for a $12,500 salary under a contract which provides that he must win a certain number of games, expects to rank again as the peer of the National league fingers. With Alexander going good the other members of the pitching staff will have to contribute their share of good hurling, for the mighty Alex must have some capable assistants if the Phils are to keep their standing.

Bender will be missing this year, having been released, and Kaitlich, though secured from Pittsburgh last fall has been sold because he refused terms. However, Moran will try out some good-looking rookies. Among them are Pittory from Salt Lake, who won 29 out of 48 full games last season.

Philadelphia's American league entry may be able to live down its reputation as a flivver by next fall and Connie Mack has gone on record to the fact that he is determined to build up another winner, and right now Phils fans are living on promises and hopes.

The Athletics of last year would have found plenty of opposition in any one of the three big minor leagues until towards the latter part of the season when the perked up and gave a snapper brand of ball.

The Athletics have a number of young ball players who will be ready to travel a major league gait from the get-go if we are to believe in the judgment of Mack. Wilt is slated for the shortstop position of the Philadelphia Athletics. With Lawry and Grover to fight it out for second base and Bates the hot-corner man the infield combination, fortified with young blood and anchored around Stuffy McInnis, may more than hold its own in fielding. As a hitting well, McInnis will have to find his eye, and the youngsters are problems.

Mack's young catchers—Haley, Richmond and Meyer—will fight it out to see who helps Schang to do the regular stunts behind the bat, unless Mack decides to play the versatile Schang in the garden regularly. Schang has been dissatisfied with his contract and did not start south when Mack headed for Jacksonville with his squad. Thrasher is another player whom Mack is counting on, and his outfield will probably be made up of Strunk, Thrasher and Bodie.

In pitching the Athletics look to Joe Bush as the king pin of the hurlers. The regular staff will be built around him from Nabors, Selbold, Schanera, Horne, Anderson, Parnham, Smith and Noyes.

While the White Elephants cannot be classed as pennant contenders, they will not finish in the cellar again this year without a fight, and they look like a club that is due for a strong comeback.

Here he is again. Trp. we mean Les Darcy. The good sporting fans have been Les Darcys to a frazzle over

The question of armed American merchant craft was discussed particularly, but the regulations will be broad enough to cover any naval or military movements the government deems it advisable to keep secret.

Can Print Arrivals.
The press associations have assured Secretary Daniels of their desire to cooperate and in the absence of authority for imposing a legal censorship will be bound by the government's requests. Before the regulations are approved they will be submitted both to the associations and to managing editors of newspapers for discussion and suggestion.

Mr. Daniels took occasion today to inform the press generally that his recent request that movements of American merchant ships be withheld from publication, did not mean that arrivals of such ships in American or European ports should not be reported.

"Such arrivals," the Secretary said, "could not easily afford any information that might jeopardize life and such news would be of the deepest interest to the public and should be published."

Mr. Daniels also gave assurances that no effort would be made to suppress the news if American ships should be sunk. "If there should be any disaster, of course," he said, "the information would be furnished, and it would be expected that the papers would print the facts."

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

IF YOUR BACK HURTS OR BLADDER BOTHERS YOU, DRINK LOTS OF WATER.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore; don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 600 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will not flake. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

The officials of the Portsmouth Country Club are considering the advisability of seedling the greens. Another sign of spring.

WILL NOT BUILD AT THE PRESENT

Threatening Conditions Will Hold Up Improvements for Hospital.

Owing to the threatening conditions of the country and the uncertainty of obtaining necessary building material, the trustees of the Portsmouth hospital have decided not to carry out the proposed improvements covered by the fund of $15,000 which recently became available under the John J. Flecker will.

It is understood that the previous plans would mean the construction of a surgical pavilion which is one of the most needed improvements. It is hoped by the management that conditions will be so changed during the summer that a start can be made with the additional building.

ADVANCE SPRING STYLES

Individuality is the key-note of the Spring modes. The diversity of styles, the many clever color combinations, give ample choice for individual selection. Our stock embraces all that is new and artistic, as well as practical styles, styles in both lace and button boots. Built on graceful lines, they give the arch a beautiful curve and fit to perfection. Two-tones and solid color effects, to wear with the Spring Costume.

RAILROAD STATIONS BROKEN INTO

Thieves Visit Newfields, Durham and Madbury.

Three railroad stations on the Boston & Maine railroad, Newfields, Durham and Madbury, were broken into Saturday night. At Newfields entrance was gained by breaking the entire sash in an end window. The telephone instrument in the booth was broken out, and carried away with the exception of the receiver. A penny-in-the-slot machine was also rifled of its contents. Station Agent Eugene C. Partridge stated that he had forwarded the month's payment to the Telephone Company on March 12, and it is doubtful if there was more than 25 cents in it. The contents of the penny machine was also light.

Similar damage and entrance was reported at Durham and Madbury. As far as could be ascertained the safe or lockers were not disturbed.

NOTES FROM GIRLS' CLUB

Twenty-two girls from this Club went to Dover last Thursday evening to attend the district conference. A banquet was enjoyed, followed by inspiring talks by representatives of the various clubs present. Greetings were read from Miss Jean Hamilton, National League secretary, who is at present studying in the large cities of the West the development of community center clubs. Miss Winship, the director of the Haverhill Club, also one of the vice presidents of the Massachusetts Association, spoke about their club in Haverhill. The size of a club in her estimation depends on the lack of money that has to be earned by the girls. Too much thought and time that has to be expended upon money-making schemes leaves but little time for the social side of the club, and it is this last side of our clubs that make them worth while. After a girl has spent her day in hard labor she wants to be entertained when evening comes, and not to be called upon to work. This has been proved in Haverhill.

Dancing class tonight in U. V. U. hall at 7:30. At 7 o'clock the play committee will meet to assign parts for the annual play. Rehearsals will soon commence and the play will be produced as soon as possible.

Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock a current event class will be started. Each member is asked to bring in some article that she has found during the week that is worthy of discussion. The class will last from 7 to 8 so please be prompt.

On Thursday evening a class in knitting will begin. Miss Eleanor Gooding will be in charge. This class ought to prove very profitable as well as interesting. On Tuesday evening, March 27th, the monthly social will be held. At that time the Haverhill Girls' Club will be our special guests. The entertainment committee is hard at work on plans for the party. Remember the date and be sure to come.

circulated any quicker and caused more gossip.

That several of the city council are quoted as being against the renting of any city land to people for "gardens."

That they fear it would cause a lot of argument and trouble.

That other cities are planning to try it out, argument or no argument.

That a "load" of onions for dealers in this city is said to have arrived here recently with the vegetables frozen in transportation.

That a New York store has adopted a novel plan to keep the girl clerks safe from the attention of mashers.

That the firm places a wedding ring on each girl's finger.

That this does not mean that girls are to hold the gold hoop and credit it to any work of Dan Cupid.

That a mother can be mean with her children.

PASTOR REQUESTS CO-OPERATION OF THE PARISHIONERS

During the announcement made by Rev. D. Alex Sullivan, rector of the Church of the Immaculate Conception on Sunday, he touched on a request made by the Portsmouth Board of Trade relative to the public meeting on Tuesday night and advised co-operation of the parishioners in assisting the organization in the general improvement for the welfare and prosperity of Portsmouth to be made by the proposed new Chamber of Commerce.

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG.

"The Price She Paid," with Miss Clara Kimball Young as the star, will be the Selznick-Pictures feature at the Colonial Theatre Thursday. This photoplay of the life of a beautiful young society woman is from the immensely popular novel by David Graham Phillips. It outlines the problems in the life of a young woman, used to luxurious surroundings, who finds herself almost without resources. After a disastrous marriage she determines to become an opera singer, and the difficulties she encounters form a series of scenes of unusual interest. How she finally reaches independence and freedom is a fascinating story. The director is Charles Giblyn, this being the first of his Selznick productions.
